

Vote FOR Safer Roads and Less Congestion

"I've had to explain to my four-year-old daughter that the road we drive on almost every day is very dangerous, and people have been hurt very badly in accidents. I believe that many of the roads in Hays County are not equipped to handle the current population and am asking my Hays County neighbors to vote FOR the road bonds."

– Melissa Frensley, resident living off of FM 1626

Safer Roads for Hays County Families

The Hays County road bonds will improve safety by widening dangerous roads like FM 1626, improving intersections on RR 12 with turn lanes, adding contiguous turn lanes and widening shoulders on Highway 290, and converting I-35 frontage roads to one-way only.

Safer, Less Congested Roads for $6/month

The road bonds will deliver safer, less congested roads throughout Hays County for $207 million, yielding an estimated cost of $6/month for the average taxpayer.

Of the total amount of the bonds, up to $133 million will be repaid to the County from the State of Texas through a system called pass-through financing.

"Head-on collisions happen too often on our county roads. That can come to an end with the passage of this bond."

– Buda Fire Chief Clay Huckaby

Taking on Traffic for Increased Mobility

By adding turn lanes, improving intersections, and in some cases widening roads, the road bonds will help traffic move more smoothly throughout the county.

Planning for the Future

By passing these road bonds now, we can properly plan for growth in Hays County and meet the needs of the future.

Protecting the Character of the Hill Country

Hays County is committed to using context-sensitive design, taking into consideration the character and environment of the area around roads when designing improvements.

Public Input yielding better results

When developing the plan for these bonds, a citizen-led advisory group held a series of extensive public input sessions to ensure needs were being met throughout the county.

As a result, every community in Hays County will see needed road improvements made with the passage of these bonds.
